Introduction

What is this report?

This report highlights the strengths and development opportunities of your team overall, and for the individuals within the team.

What benefits can I get from the information?

Maximise every $ spent on Sales Training

This reports helps you target Sales Training for your team overall or for the individuals in the team at the stages of the sales cycle that come least naturally to them.

We all have our strengths (personality traits that means certain activities and tasks come naturally) in the sales cycle, and other stages in the sales cycle that are less natural, and require us to stretch out of our comfort zone, it's performing those tasks and activities where we don't normally perform as well or as confidently, we often even avoid doing them all together.

By focussing training and development on these areas we can become more adaptable (help those things that feel unnatural to become more natural) therefore become more effective right across our role.

This report provides insights into our strengths and development opportunities, then provides recommendations to specific training courses.

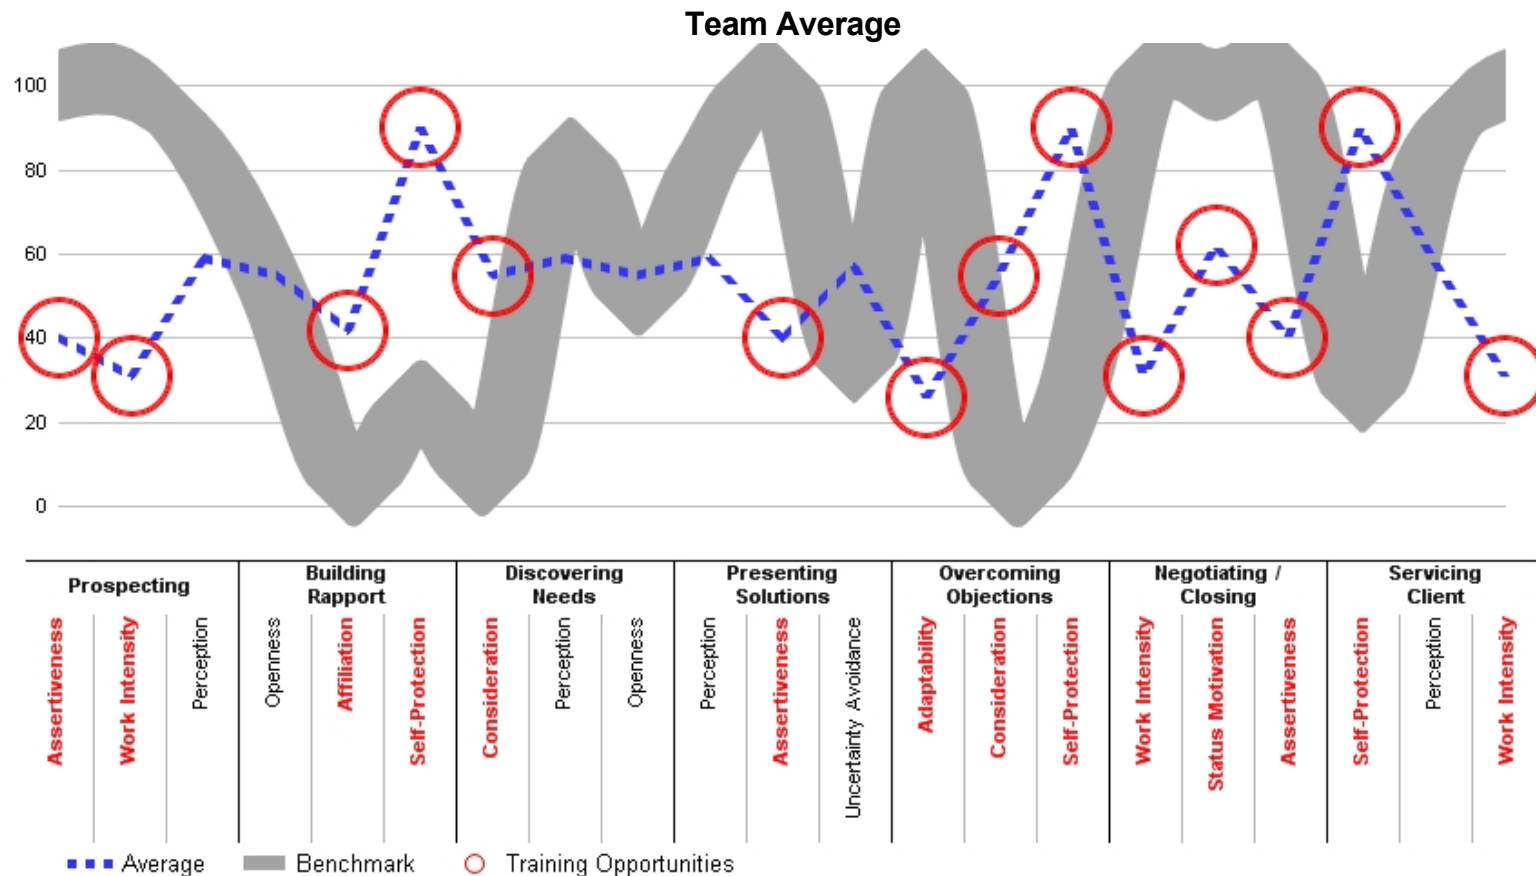

What is the validity of the information provided?

This tools was developed by Leading Dimensions Consulting LLC the publishers of globally embraced psychometric tools such as the LDP Profiles and Human Capital Management Tools such as the LD:360 and OEI Organisational Engagement Index report. The information is based on decades of academic research using 1000's of participants across the world and across industries. To learn more about Leading Dimensions Consulting, and follow these links to read more about the tools, the author Dr Douglas Waldo, and the academic rigour and statistical validation of these tools please view these resources.

Team Benchmarking and Training Opportunities

The grey 'benchmark band' represents that attributes of the highest performing sales people in studies over across 1000's of sales people worldwide. In these studies high performing was a balance of achievement against targets, preserving margin, quality of sale (minimal refunds, complaints etc) and average tenure in the role. This band represents the 'DNA' of the personality profile of the highest performing sales people. At each stage of the sales cycle there are key activities that came more naturally to this personality profile than other personality types. The good news is that we can all learn to be effective at those activities that require us to stretch beyond what comes naturally to us, in other words we can learn to expand our natural skill set with training, coaching and practice.

Every red circle represents an opportunity for significantly improved performance through targeted training and development, training recommendations are provided later in the report.
