MEETING MANAGEMENT TRAINING COURSE OUTLINE

FOREWORD

Professor Terry Robbins-Jones, head of the University of Adelaide's School of Accounting and Information Systems says face-to-face meetings are costing Australian businesses a whopping AU$19 billion per year.

He states "...the time spent in face-to-face meetings - probably accounts for well over half the total costs of any organisation, companies should be thinking about having a budget for it or monitoring how effectively it operates," he added. The University of South Australia study found that 46% of executives felt meetings were a good use of time, while 33% felt that - at best - they were fairly productive.

These figures suggest that utilising a "meeting auditor" or "collaborative advocate" could produce cost savings and increased productivity benefits.

Based on these statistics, the Meeting Management Training Course was designed to assist participants with setting the appropriate meeting conventions and protocols to successfully manage formal, informal and e-meetings. Participants will learn to apply tools and techniques in planning, participating in and concluding successful meetings.
