Definition:

Positive Intelligence (PQ) is a concept developed by Shirzad Chamine that measures how effectively one can manage their mental and emotional responses. It involves understanding and overcoming internal Saboteurs (negative thought patterns) and harnessing the power of the Sage (positive, solution-oriented mindset) to enhance overall effectiveness and well-being. In a leadership context, Positive Intelligence helps leaders manage stress, improve decision-making, and foster a positive team environment.

Aim of the Training:

The aim of the Positive Intelligence for Leaders training is to equip leaders with the tools and insights needed to enhance their emotional intelligence and resilience. By understanding and applying Positive Intelligence principles, leaders can better manage their internal mental challenges, harness their strengths, and create a more positive and productive work environment. The training focuses on integrating these concepts into practical leadership scenarios to improve decision-making, team dynamics, and personal well-being.
